Badger Alloys Named "Future 50" Company for Second Year

Milwaukee, Wis. – Badger Alloys, a family-owned and operated foundry that specializes in custom castings, has been named a Future 50 company for the second consecutive year. The award is given annually by the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce's Council of Small Business Executives (COSBE).

"This award is an important recognition of our reinvestments and growth strategies employed over the past few years," said Rob Cowen, Badger Alloys president and CEO. "We are honored to be among the companies selected for the award and pleased that manufacturers are the most well represented group on the list."

The Future 50 program, now in its 27th year, recognizes privately owned companies in the seven-county Milwaukee region that have been in business for at least three years and have shown significant revenue and employment growth. "It is always encouraging to see such a strong group of applicants and winners in this program each year. These companies truly represent the future of our region," said Mary Steinbrecher, executive director of COSBE.

The Future 50 companies will be honored at an awards luncheon on Thursday, September 11, 2014, at the Hyatt Regency, Milwaukee.

Located in the heart of Milwaukee and founded in 1966, Badger Alloys offers single-source responsibility for custom castings. The company employs more than 125 and includes a sand foundry, pattern shop and machine shop to offer customers fully integrated services.
